

Tracey Ross-Watmore

Tracey began “Set A Course” in 2001. Prior to this, Tracey served as Director of Nestlé USA Learning and Development, and still works with Nestlé on a regular basis, in a consultancy role. Her resume also includes The Walt Disney Company, Perrier, Southern Bell, and Great Western Bank (now Chase). Within each of these organizations, Tracey worked as a training, course design and OD professional.

Tracey holds an MA and BA in Speech Communication, from California State University, Northridge. She continued her work at CSUN as a faculty member teaching undergraduate courses, and as a debate coach.

With her current clients, Tracey specializes in training design, delivery, and performance coaching for individuals and teams.
